We need Liturgical Ministers for the year! That means you! We need students, faculty, staff and community members to step up into various roles. We are in desperate need of 3 servers, 1 lector, two greeters, and 2 extraordinary ministers of Communion. Please consider giving of yourself to one of these ministries.

How often will you be on the schedule? Once a month if enough people step forward. Be one of these people. Talk with our campus minister, Roy Lanham or text him (217)-512-0949 or send him an email to sign up.

A View from My Window

I often shy away from compliments. I am not sure why. It has been a struggle of mine and at times I deflect when folks thank me for something I have done. “No worries”, or “It takes a whole team” will come out of my mouth instead of “you are welcome” or “I am glad to assist.”

Well, this week two “pieces” of paper ended up in my offices. One was a large “THANK YOU” from the students from Emilie and Mother Joseph Halls with kind words of support. The other was a giant “Birthday Greeting” hanging on my wall next to my office at the UC. University staff and students wrote wishes and kind notes.

I am humbled and appreciative of being part of this university community. As we navigate the uncertainties of this year, I realize one overwhelming reality: this is a community filled with folks who care deeply for each other and only want the best for one another. Let’s continue to pray for our university asking in a particular way for the intercession of Blessed Emilie Gamelin and Our Lady of Providence.

Peace, Roy

Small Groups

Led by students or the campus minister, these weekly one-hour gatherings will give you the opportunity to grow in faith and friendship. The times and places will vary. Sign ups are continuing to happen this week at the table outside of the Campus Ministry office or while we are tabling during lunch.

Curious but not sure you want to commit to a full semester? No problem; we are inviting students to a six week small group and see what you think after that. Groups will begin the week of September 13th. Look for our Launch Party after Labor Day!
